APPLIED JAZZ IMPROVISATION POLICIES

Effective Winter Quarter 2021

- Improv lessons are applied lessons for one, two, or three credits, specifically focused on improvisation, and may be taken with a faculty member who is not your primary applied instructor, by permission only. The total number of applied credits taken in any quarter cannot exceed three (the credit sum for applied lessons in the student's 'home' studio, plus Applied Jazz Improvisation lessons).
- The College Office will register approved applied jazz improvisation forms. Students must have any financial blocks removed in order to be registered. If a student has a financial block, it is the student's responsibility to notify the College Office when the block is lifted. All financial matters must be resolved before the last day to add classes.
- Undergraduate students may take improv lessons for one, two, or three credits, only in their junior and/or senior years, for a total maximum of two quarters. Improv lessons may not be taken during the quarter in which a degree recital is performed and may not be taken in two consecutive quarters.
- Graduate students may take improv lessons, for one, two, or three credits, for two of the six quarters of their degree. Improv lessons may not be taken during the quarter in which a degree recital is performed and may not be taken in two consecutive quarters.
